

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention is a magnetic knife sheath that permits easy transport and protection of knives in a relatively small sheath. The sheath has two magnetically
5 charged faces that attract each other, protecting and holding the knife blade securely between them.